

Understanding the culture without losing your message

How can Christians engage culture without diluting and possibly losing their message?

details

Monday 31 August, 7.30-8.45pm, Online

rsvp

By registering to ENGAGE Work Faith www.engageworkfaith.org.au

In 2020, the world feels like it is tumbling out of control. On top of increasing hostility to Christian faith, the world is polarising and simultaneously the assumed anchor points have given way with the pandemic.

The speaker Max Jeganathan, is Asia-Pacific Regional Director for Ravi Zacharias International Ministries (RZIM). Born in Sri Lanka, Max moved to Australia as a refugee and has worked as a lawyer and as a political and policy advisor in Canberra. He is now based in Singapore. He is amply qualified to help Christians build a bridge to their friends without losing their gospel hope.

Join us for a live online event, including extensive Q&A. Register at registrations@engageworkfaith.org.au